

adharna

aja

advaita

ajāpa

ahaṃ

akṣara

ahaṃkāra

ananta

aiṃ

annamaya kośa

unborn

in derogation to the ideal, evil continuous recitation, without count of recitation

non-duality

a letter, the unqualified infinite the sense of ego "I"

without count, infinite the ego, the sense of "I" the world of atoms, that which is perceivable through the senses the vibration or natural name of wisdom

antaḥkaraṇa

asuras

antaṃ

ānanda

aṇu

ānandamaya kośa

aṅkuram

ārādhana

apāna

āsana

the forces of individuality the inner cause or inner sense bliss

at the apex, at the end of,
the ultimate limit

the world of pure bliss

atoms

pleasing, satisfying, fulfilling abundance, a source

seat or meditation posture exhalation

āśrama

bhakta

ātma-samarpaṇa

bhakti

bandhaṃ

bhautika śabda

bandhana

bhāva

bhagavān

bhāva samādhi

devotee

a place of refuge

devotion

surrender one's own soul words which describe the world of objects and relationships bound by a vibration, attitude

bondage

an intuition in which three exist: I, the subject or meditator, Thou, the meditated upon, and the relationship between the two

Supreme Lord

bhikṣāpātra

bindu

bhogī

brahmiṇ

bhuvah

buddhi

bhūḥ

bīja

bhūmi śuddhi

cakra

one point

begging bowl

one who knows divinity

one who enjoys

objective knowledge, intelligence the subtle world, that which is conceivable in the mind the seed, natural name the gross world, that which is

perceivable through the senses

center of energy, circle purification of land

chandaḥ

citta

Chañḍī

darśana

chedana

dāsa

cit

devas

cit rūpiṇī

dharma

the objects of awareness, the totality of cognition meter, a specified number of syllables

intuitive vision, perception name of the Divine Mother Goddess, She Who Tears Apart Thoughts

the servant of cutting asunder

the forces of communion, gods

consciousness

an ideal of perfection, the harmony of the universe, religion the capacity to evolve a form of

consciousness,
fully potential energy

dhāraṇā

dvam̐dva

dhyāna

ghaṭa

dr̥ṣṭi

ghaṭākāśa

duḥka

guru

dvaita

ha

conflict or opposition

concentration

container

meditation

contained space

perception

example, inspiration, teacher

pain

purusa, divine consciousness duality or multiplicity haṃsaḥ

hrīṃ - māyā

havana

īśvara

heti

janaḥ

hetu

janma

hiraṇyagarbha

janmaśreṣṭhatvaṃ

the totality of existence, all that can be perceived through the senses, conceived in the mind, or known through intuition, and beyond the so-ham mantra, swan the principle of divine union, Supreme Lord

fire ceremony

the logos, the embodiment of all knowledge

a weapon

birth

destruction, motivation the ultimate birth, the ultimate aim of living

Golden Womb, the first seed of existence

jayatvam

jñānī

jāpa

jñāna indriyas

jāyā

jñāna

jñānājñāna

jīva

kalā

wise one

victory

five organs of knowledge:
the eyes, ears, nose, tongue, and skin

the conscious repetition of mantra

wisdom

birth

wisdom and ignorance

attributes

the individual soul, life

kalyāṇaṃ

kāñchūkas

karma

klīṃ

karma indriyas

kośa

kāla

krodha

kāma

kṛ

limitations, or modes of
perception

welfare

transformation towards perfection activity

a sheath, covering or thickness five organs of action: the upper appendages, lower appendages, tongue, reproductive organ, anus anger

time

do

desire

kṛpā

loka

kṣara

mahaḥ

kumbhāka

mahābhūtas

liṅgam

mahākāśa

lobha

mahāmāyā

world, a paradigm of reality

Grace, what you do is what you get the totality of all that can possible be conceived, the body of Nature that which is finite, which will not last

the essential elements of existence: earth, water, fire, air, ether

retention

unlimited space

symbol of divinity, subtle body, male generative organ

the great measurement, the great limitation of consciousness greed

mama

mantra

man

matsara

manomaya kośa

mā

manana

mālā

maṅgala

māyā

that which takes away your mind, divine vibrations of sound mine, as in possession

jealousy

mind, subjective knowledge to measure

the world of concepts, ideas, thoughts

garland

contemplation

the measurement or limitation of
consciousness

goodness, auspiciousness

moda

nāma

moha

nididhyāsana

mṛtyuñjayatvam

nir

mukti

nirguṇa

nāda

nirodha

name

attachment

deep meditation

ignorance

without

victory over death

without qualities

liberation, self-realization prohibition, cessation, or obstruction

the subtle body of sound, the sound we hear inside

nirvikalpa

nivṛtti

nirvikalpa samādhi

niyama

niṣkāma

nīra

nitya

nyāti

nityakarma

paramātman

involution

without an idea

discipline

the existence of only One water

without desire

space

eternal

The Supreme Soul

eternal activity

pañca kośa

prakāśa

pā

prakṛti

pāntam

pratyakṣa

pāśa

pratyaya

Phalitam

pratyāhāra

illumination, intuitive awareness the five sheaths, coverings or layers the embodiment of nature to get the union between the organs of knowledge and the objects of perception to drink, draw within, absorb subtle body of thoughts bondage or bond

withdrawing of the senses

the fruit

pravṛtti

prārabdha karma

prāṇa

puṇya

prāṇamaya kośa

puruṣa

prāṇasiddhi

pūjā

prāṇayāma

pūraka

the actions begun in the past, which will come to fruition in the future

evolution

merit

breath, life force, inhalation the individual soul, consciousness the world of breath

worship, that which gives birth to
merit

the attainment of perfection in control of breath

inhalation

the control of breath

rakta

rṣi

rakta bijā

rohita

rāga

rūpa

rajoguṇa

sa

recaka

sadā

seer, beings of wisdom

red, blood, passion, desire the radiance of the morning sun the seed of desire

form

activity, becoming

with the quality of passion

eternal, always continuing, forever

exhalation

Sadāśiva

saṁkṣipta

sadr̥ṣṭi

saṁsāra

samādhi

saṁskāra

samāna

sannyāsī

samāsti

saṅkalpa

past actions, also abbreviated

Pure Consciousness

the world, the sea of all, the world of objects and relationships with perception

a certain tendency to manifest action in specific ways complete absorption in the perfection of union

established in truth and renunciation

equalizing breath, staying still in equilibrium

a vow for spiritual growth, definition of a goal

universal or cosmic

sarūpa

satyarūpā

sarvakāraṇakāraṇam

saubhāgya

satsaṅga

savikalpa

sattvaguṇa

savikalpa samādhi

satya

sayuja

the form of true existence with form

good fortune

the Cause of all causes with an idea

community of truth, spiritual fellowship absorption in the union between I and Thou

the quality of truth, purity with union

true existence

sādhana

sevā

sādhikā

siddhatvasiddhiḥ

sādhu

siddhi

sālokya

siddhāpāṭhaḥ

sāmipyā

sthāpana

the privilege to demonstrate our love through effective action spiritual discipline

the attainment of all attainments spiritual aspirant, practitioner of discipline (fem.)

attainment

spiritual aspirant, practitioner of discipline (male)

reciting a scripture from beginning to end

together in the same paradigm of reality

establishment

performing the same activity

sthūla śarīra

svarūpam

stotram

svāyambhuva

su

sr̥ṣṭi

sūtra

śabda

svaḥ

śabda brahmāṇ

the intrinsic form, intrinsic essence of nature

the gross body

he who becomes of his own accord

song in praise of God

creation

excellent

audible sound

a thread, outline of major points the sound of God, the infinite sound beyond conception the causal world, that which is known through intuition

śakti

śravaṇa

Sāṅkhyā Philosophy

śrāddha

śānti

Śrī

Śiva

Śrī Vidyā

śloka

Śuddha Vidyā

hearing

pure energy

memorial ceremonies in honor of the departed

the philosophy of discrimination between the eternal and the temporal

respected

peace

the knowledge of the Divine Mother, of the Highest Respect

The Consciousness of Infinite Goodness

pure knowledge

Sanskrit verse

tamoguṇa

tapas

tanmātras

tapasyā

tantra

tarpaṇa

Tantra Philosophy

tattva

tapah

tejas

heat

the quality of darkness any act of purification, applying heat, spiritual discipline the objects of perception: sight, sound, smell, taste and feel offering to departed souls the synthesis of the way to move from duality to unity

principle

the philosophy which synthesizes all knowledge into the path of unity

illumination

the world of light and wisdom

tra

udāna

triśūla

ultāpāṭhaḥ

tvam

vaikārika

U

vartmāna

udāsa

vasāt

bringing up the breath

that which takes away reading a scripture backwards trident which stands for the unity of all trinities

an intuitional understanding, modified

you

present karma

circumstance

bound, dependent upon the servant of circumstances, the spirit of surrendering

vācaka

vikalpa

Vedānta Philosophy

vimukti

vedic śabda

vyakti

vidyā

vyakti rupa

vidyāvidyā

vyāna

an idea

an intellectual understanding of words

he who resides in self-realization the philosophy of One Reality individuality

words of wisdom

individual form

knowledge

an involuntary expulsion of air, like gas, belching, sneezing knowledge and ignorance

vijñānamaya kośa

yogī

vṛtti

yuja

yāma

yātrā

yoga

one who has attained the
perfection of union

the world of light and wisdom

union

activities or modifications to take control

Pilgrimage

the perfection of union